👤 PROFILE

Born and raised on the small island of Majuro. I know that I have a degree in Computer Science and Electrical Engineering and have a strong foundation in programming but with a background in bars and customer facing roles, I genuinely enjoy meeting new people and creating a welcoming atmosphere wherever I work. I'm at my best in busy social settings where I can engage with others and make sure they feel looked after. Whether it's sharing a laugh with a customer or staying calm during a busy shift, I bring a friendly attitude, strong work ethic, and a passion for great service every day. I have 3 to 4 years of work experience in different fields from teaching English, working at a supermarket, to working at a bar and many more. I strive to gain more experience and give my full effort in whichever job I am put in.
